SHANGHAI SILK GODOWNS SWEPT BY FIRE; LOSS TAELS 10,000,000!

EARL B. ROSE IS MISSING; WARRANT OUT FOR ARREST

Prominent Attorney Is Wanted On Charges Of Embezzlement

ALSO DISBARRED

Former Law Partner Says Shortage May Be Taels 80,000

Earl B. Rose, long a prominent figure in American legal circles in Shanghai has vanished and a warrant has been issued for his arrest. The missing attorney has been dropped from membership in the American Bar Association and, following proceedings that were held in the United States Court for China, Judge C. S. Lobingier issued yesterday an order disbarring him.

Embezzlement is the charge set forth in the warrant which was drawn last Tuesday by Mr. H. D. Rodger, who is acting as United States District Attorney during the absence in America of Maj. C. P. Holcomb. The complaint was presented by Mr. James MacDonnell, manager of Sonn Brothers Company, and the allegation made is that Mr. Rose converted to his own use shares of stock of a par value of Tls. 9,500 that had been entrusted to him by Sonn Brothers.

Until recently Mr. Rose has been a member of one of Shanghai's leading American law firms, Jernigan, Fessenden, Rose and Holcomb, which went out of existence some weeks ago and has been succeeded by the firm of Fessenden and Holcomb. It was while he was a member of the first named firm that it is alleged that Mr. Rose committed the offenses ascribed to him.

HAS CONFESSION

Mr. Stirling Fessenden, who is senior member of the American bar in Shanghai, said yesterday that the charge of embezzlement made in the warrant for Mr. Rose is but one of a number of charges of the same nature. Before Mr. Rose left Shanghai and while he was still in hospital recovering from a recent severe attack of typhoid, Mr. Fessenden said he obtained from his former partner a complete written confession which he now holds. This occurred within the past week and the disappearance of Mr. Rose was brought about so abruptly that, though no time was lost in presenting the matter to the American authorities, the accused attorney was not to be found when the United States Marshal undertook to serve the warrant.

Mr. Fessenden has in his possession all of the personal records and accounts of the missing attorney and with these he is conducting an investigation seeking to untangle the financial snarl left in his hands.

HUGE LOSS ALLEGED

Mr. Fessenden said yesterday that no exact estimate could be made at this time of the extent of the losses for which he holds his former partner responsible. He gave it as his belief, however, that the sum would be between Tls. 75,000 and Tls. 80,000.

The disappearance of the attorney has been taken in some quarters as a development in a wholly singular situation which has grown up in recent weeks in American legal and official circles. This situation has been a thing wholly obscure, seemingly with no other foundation than a tissue of whispered gossip and rumor, but the missing attorney has been the central figure of these murmurings to which some impetus was given not long ago by a small exodus of American attorneys to the national Capital at Washington, D.C.

The loss claimed by Sonn Brothers Company is but a fractional part of the total sum alleged to have been misappropriated. No disclosures have yet been made concerning the identity of any others who may have been victims, and none of these has seen fit to file additional charges up to the present. When all details in connection with the bulk of the sum alleged to have been embezzled are brought to light it is thought that the entire situation surrounding the activi-

Morris Gest Sues Ford For $5,000,000 Libel

BEER TO FLOW IN U.S. AGAIN, IF NEW DECISION STANDS

Attorney General Holds Amber Fluid Is Medicine; Much Sickness Predicted

(Reuter's Service)

New York, March 10.—The Attorney General of the United States has given a considered opinion to the effect that beer is a medicine. This means that beer may be brewed and sold in unlimited quantities to holders of a medical certificate testifying that a nourishing stimulant is needed. Prohibition officers believe that the ruling will result in the disappearance of the demand for whisky.

Or, as our old friend Walt Mason would say: At last the bonds are busted and throats that long have rusted may soon be lubricated. At last we're liberated from the soda fountain duds that long have masqueraded as old Budweiser suds. But in your jubilation just drop a tear or so for the gents who write prescriptions, the hard worked medicos, for now their leisure ceases. From what the new decree says the 'nation's to be damp, which means that all the sawbones will die of writer's cramp. Likewise a flock of stresses await the printing presses. They'll burn their bearings out, also their gears and cranks in one gosh awful rush to manufacture blanks. All o'er the land there's joy and mirth, and many a shrinking girth that long has been without will blossom forth again and also blossom out. Hard times await the alley goat that roams o'er hill and moat, also the alley Nan for now the old tomato can that they were wont to eat will soon be back again on its accustomed beat. And little Willie's tender feet in shoes so warm and neat will soon be black with dirt; likewise his little shirt for Pa, right quick or soon, will hit the old saloon and there spend all his dough and ma will have to go on bended knees to butcher man for meat and cheese and things to eat. So let the bells ring out and let the guzzlers shout in wild outbursts of glee for beer has won a court decree. The amber booze has dumped the constitution on its ear and thumped the wily Prohibs; likewise mopped the floor with those enforcement blokes and put the bar keeps on the job once more.

LLOYD GEORGE DEFENDS STAND ON REPARATIONS

Does Not Wish "To Force Germany Into Despair," He Says

VON SIMONS O.K.'d

Berlin Cabinet Approves Stand He Took At London

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 10.—Replying in the House of Commons to criticisms Mr. Lloyd George remarked on the inconsistency of the Opposition's uttering declarations that Germany ought to pay and yet opposing steps to make her pay. The Premier said he did not wish to force Germany into despair. Indeed the present sanctions were the best way of obviating that calamity in a manner compatible with our determination to secure justice.

Moreover, the Premier continued, the sanctions would undoubtedly yield substantial practical advantages. The Allies were at present receiving between fifty and sixty per cent of the total German exports and Germany would naturally refuse to sacrifice this huge section of her trade. Consequently Great Britain expected to receive £20,000,000 in the present year by exaction.

Had Germany made a sincere offer he would have done everything in his power to meet her wishes but Germany was not yet convinced of the necessity of settling and Dr. von Simons had not been instructed to arrange a settlement. But when she realised that the Allies mean to deal justly and fairly and also firmly with her, Germany would be more amenable to agreement than if we were divided in our counsels.

Vienna, March 10.—In the National Assembly the President read a declaration of sympathy with Germany as the result of the London conference. He declared that Austria was sorely stricken by what had happened to her brethern in the German Empire.

Washington, March 10.—The Secretary of War announces that the United States troops are occupying the Rhine territory under the terms of the Armistice and not under the Treaty of Versailles. The State Department is therefore unlikely to approve the participation of United States troops in the Allied sanctioned plans.

Berlin, March 10.—The Cabinet has unanimously approved Dr. von Simons' conduct of the London reparations negotiations.

London, March 11.—The German Reparations Recovery Bill, providing for the application of part of the purchase price of imported German goods towards the discharging of Germany's obligations under the Treaty of Versailles, was introduced in the House of Commons today by Mr. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who expressed the hope that the second reading would be taken on Monday, and that the bill would pass all stages as rapidly as possible.

FAMINE FUND HITS $740,000 AS DRIVE OPENS

Contributions And Pledges Made At Mass Meeting Held In Town Hall

PARADE COMES SUNDAY

Relief Workers Here Confident Contributions Will Exceed Quota

Contributions and pledges received at the mass meeting of the Shanghai United Famine Relief Drive held at the Town Hall yesterday amounted to $740,000. Contributions amounted to $430,000 and pledges totalled $310,000.

Despite the rain a fairly large crowd attended the meeting which starts the seven-day campaign for funds and the money subscribed amounted to more than was expected by the committees.

Short addresses telling of the famine conditions and of the need for funds to carry on the relief work were made by Mr. C. C. Nieh, president of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce; Mr. H. A. Wilden, French Consul General; Mr. A. Brooke-Smith, chairman of the Municipal Council; Mr. C. Y. Sun of Tientsin, Mr. David Z. T. Yui and Mr. F. W. Souter. Mr. Yui made the direct appeal for funds and a ready response was made by the audience.

Pictures showing conditions in the famine districts were shown and a report of the work of the Chinese Foreign Famine Relief Committee for the period ending December 31, 1920 distributed. Features of the program were songs by the chorus of the McTyeire School, folk dances by the Y.W.C.A. Training School girls and popular selections by the Moutrie's Band.

An announcement was made regarding the big parade which is to be held tomorrow afternoon in the interest of the famine relief drive.

Features of the parade will be bands, floats, and decorated automobiles, while representatives of fifty organisations will march on foot.

The parade will form at one o'clock on Thibet Road from Avenue Edward VII, to Nanking Road. The line of march is as follows: down Avenue Edward VII, to the Bund over to Rue du Consulat, from here to Rue du Montigny, turn to Rue du Ningpo, to Boulevard des Deux Republiques and from here to the Bund where the parade will disband.

The Shanghai Federated Street Unions have decided to participate in the forthcoming parade to be given under the auspices of the International Famine Relief Committee. All the banners, rosettes and other decorations will be provided for the central committee of the unions and each branch is allowed to be represented by ten members.

WOOD TO START FOR ORIENT SOON

General To Be Accompanied By Military Aide And Ex-Governor Cameron

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

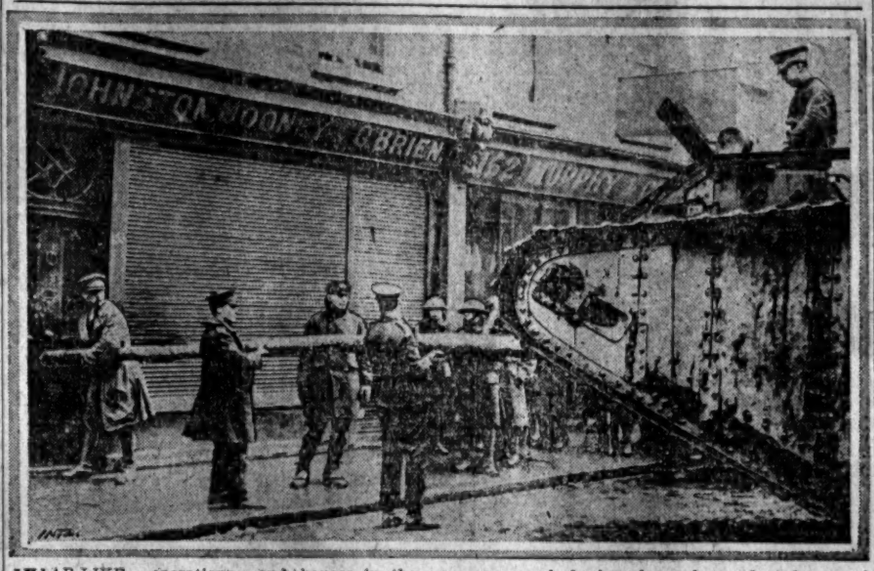
Washington, March 10.—General Leonard Wood sails for Manila from San Francisco about the 25th instant as the personal representative of President Harding for investigation and report on the question of independence of the Philippine Islands. He will be accompanied by a military aide, and perhaps by ex-Governor Cameron Forbes of the Philippines.

The mission will be absent from the United States for three or four months, although the exact time of departure and the length of its stay in the Islands has not been definitely determined.

General Wood now commands the Sixth Corps which is at present at Chicago, and he expects to begin his investigation as soon as a transfer has been arranged.

After Secretary Week's announcement of President Harding's decision, General Wood remained in conference with the latter for half-an-hour. He said that the offer from the University of Pennsylvania to become Provost was very tempting but he had not decided whether he would accept.

Tanks Used To Open Shop Doors In Besieged Dublin



WAR-LIKE operations and search continue unabated in the besieged area of Dublin. The streets are deserted and all shops closed. According to reports received here all shops and houses in the area are searched for arms. The photograph illustrates an interesting phase of the search being conducted by Government troops. The authorities, who have difficulty in opening shop doors, have adopted a novel and successful method of gaining entrance. A pole is placed against the door, the other end against a war tank, as shown in the picture. The only damage sustained is a broken lock.

APRIL 11 IS SET FOR HEARING OF SHAW LIBEL CASE

Counsel For Mr. Patrick Gallagher Asks More Details

The date for hearing of the libel action brought by Mr. George [illegible] Shaw, of Antung, against Patrick Gallagher and Mr. George Brouson Rea in connection with an article appearing in the Far Eastern Review was set for April 11 by Judge C. S. Lobingier in the United States Court for China yesterday.

The date was set following the putting forward of a motion by Mr. P. M. Lineberger, representing Mr. Gallagher, requesting that the plaintiff make his petition more definite with regard to his assessment of the amount of damages and more specific with regard to his identity. The motion took exception to the reference to the plaintiff as a "man of international reputation," which would serve to aggravate the alleged libel. An extension of time was also asked for defendant to plead, answer or demur.

Mr. Sterling Fessenden appeared to oppose the motion and Mr. J. B. Davies appeared for Mr. Rea. Mr. Fessenden opposed the motion as frivolous and asked that it be overruled. Judge Lobingier reserved his ruling in the matter.

BRITISH ARMY TO HAVE 341,000 MEN, COST £106,000,000

Expense Will Be About The Same As Before War, Despite High Prices

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 11.—The Army estimates for 1921-2 provide for an establishment of 341,000 men, and a net expenditure of £106,000,000, including £28,500,000 for troops in the Middle East and £87,000,000 for terminal war charges. The net provision, apart for the Middle East, is £69,000,000, which, allowing for the rise in prices, is about equivalent to the provision for 1914, despite the higher numbers. A sum of nearly £7,000,000 is asked for to cover excess expenditure in 1919-20.

A sum of £8,000,000 is asked for to cover excess expenditure in 1919-20.

The £28,500,000 allocated for the Middle East covers an average strength of 16,000 British and 41,000 Indian troops. Any reduction in this sum must depend on factors which Mr. Churchill is now investigating.

The total of 341,000 men is expected to fall during the financial year to 235,000, including colonial and Indian troops serving outside India.

M. Briand, Count Sforza and a representative of Lord Curzon today submitted these suggestions to the Turks, and Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Curzon submitted them to the Greeks. Both delegations requested time to consider them.

The Greek delegation will proceed at once to Athens and Bekir Sami Bey to Angora to consult their respective governments and will return as soon as possible.

Meanwhile the Supreme Council will remain in session in order to be at the disposal of both parties with a view to effecting a settlement.

7 BUILDINGS BURN, HALF OF EXPORT STOCK GONE

Flames Rage Twentyfour Hours; Insurance Firms Hit

RISK MEN MEET

Many Dealers Will Be Unable To Fill Contracts

CAUSE UNKNOWN

Two Men Hurt By Falling Bricks; Immense Crowds Watch

The costliest and one of the fiercest fires in Shanghai's history swept its way through seven godowns at North Soochow and North Thibet Roads yesterday, destroying over half the export silk stocks and rolling up a total loss which will probably reach the staggering figure of ten million taels.

The known property loss at present is over Tls. 7,000,000 and a rough estimate of the insurance written on buildings and contents stands at about Tls. 10,000,000, dealing local insurance companies a blow which will wipe out their profits for some time to come.

It is expected that the property loss, which is chiefly silk, silk cocoons, rice, provisions and oils, will rise to higher figures when a complete survey of the situation has been made. Late last night, after nearly twenty-four hours, the stricken block or buildings still burned sullenly, occasionally flaring into a burst of flame which threatened still other godowns, but the Brigade had things well in hand and it is not believed that there will be any further advance of the fire, though it was stated that the tumbled heap may burn for a week.

TWO FIREMEN HURT

The cause of the fire is not yet known but both police and fire department officials are investigating.

Breaking out shortly before two o'clock yesterday morning and leaping from godown to godown with terrific speed, the big blaze gave Shanghai's firemen a heartbreaking fight, and one which they had to wage under the handicaps of miserable water pressure and the fact that the godowns were so packed with combustible merchandise that it was practically impossible to get into them to attack the flames.

Two firemen were injured by falling walls, one having to be taken to hospital.

The godowns which were gutted stood at the corner and north and east of the corner of North Soochow and North Thibet Roads. The numbers were 1, 4, 5, 60 and 61 North Thibet Road and 64 and 62 North Soochow Road. The point of origin was in No. 1 North Thibet Road, the second building from the corner which was blazing fiercely when the Fire Brigade arrived, at about 2:15 a.m. The next building attacked was No. 4 North Thibet Road, which broke into flames startlingly soon after the first building, though the two are separated by an eighteen-foot alleyway. From these buildings the fire worked North, South and East, eating through the so-called "fire walls" as though they were ordinary partitions, which in fact is about what they proved to be.

WATER PRESSURE LOW

A bad wind hampered the efforts of the firemen, who fought valiantly under Chief Officer Pett's active supervision, and the feeble pressure of the water, the dense smoke and inability to get effectively into the heavily loaded godowns further obstructed the work. In spite of these handicaps, much merchandise was saved and all things considered the damage was remarkably well confined. The row of Chinese shops and dwellings across the street on Thibet Road were practically untouched by fire, the firemen early establishing themselves therein and soaking them down, sticking to their posts in spite of the terrific heat and smoke and the danger from the walls.

The flames from the mass of buildings rose skyward hundreds of feet, throwing a glare all over the Settlements, and thousands of Chinese and foreigners lined the banks of Soochow Creek and jammed the streets leading to the district.

The river fire float was in operation and assisted the Central, Hongkew and Sinza divisions of the Brigade.

FIREMEN FORCED BACK

As the spread to godown after godown the plucky firefighters were forced back step by step, resisting the flames stubbornly and taking up new positions as the old ones became untenable. Chief Officer Pett was in the thick of the fight and with his other officers directed the men in taking advantage of every chance to check the onward course of the flames. Before dawn four of the godowns were simply great fire-filled shells as floors and inner walls fell in.

The fireman who was worst injured was playing a hose upon the corner godown from the creek side when, without warning, the wall arched outward and crashed. He leaped for the creek and was knocked over the edge under a deluge of brick. His face was severely mashed and cut and he was badly bruised about the body. The iron railing along the creek bank was smashed and the street was buried under a heap or brick. Later another wall fell on the Thibet Road side and last night other walls were expected to come down momentarily.

INSURANCE MEN MEET

Shanghai insurance men held a loss meeting yesterday afternoon at the offices of Messrs. Arnhold Bros., who are among the heaviest hit by the fire, and appointed adjusters and an advisory committee. Practically every insurance company represented locally is affected to a greater or less extent by the loss and a number of Chinese companies are also affected. The figures tabulated roughly at yesterday's meeting reached a total of over Tls. 7,475,000, with several companies which had underwritten heavily not in the estimates.

The following is a list of companies affected, the figures being approximate:

Employers Liability and the Motor Union, Tls. 1,035,000; American Foreign Insurance Assn., Tls. 1,000,000; Association Franco-Asiatique, 325,000; Yorkshire, 606,000; Union of London, 345,000; Union of Canton, 293,000; North China, 262,000; Scottish Union and National, 227,500; Yangtsze and Far Eastern, 221,000; Norwegian Atlas, 215,000; Phoenix, 279,000; Motor Union, 303,000; South British, 193,000; Mitsui, 163,000; Japanese, 150,000; North British and Merc., 139,000; National of Copenhagen, 135,000; Imperial, 107,000; Norwegian Lloyds, 155,800; Western Australia, 97,000; Palatine, 110,000; Shanghai Fire and Marine, 84,900; Batavia, 88,000; London and Lancashire, 54,000; Globe and Rutgers, 63,000; London, 50,000; Gresham, 47,500; East India, 45,000; Law, Union and Rock, 39,500; Royal, 35,900; Java Sea, 36,000; Hongkong Fire, 30,000; Guardian, 23,500; Royal Exchange, 14,5000; Lancashire, 19,000; Queens, 15,000; National Benefit, 29,000; Sun, 10,000; Netherlands Lloyd, 7,000; State, 14,000; British-America, 1,500; General, 189,000; Caledonian, 47,000; China Mutual, 60,000 and a number of Chinese companies which were reported unofficially as holding Tls. 126,000.

The bulk of the companies mentioned are British, with several American firms and some Dutch, Japanese, French, Norwegian and Canadian companies.

DEALERS HARD HIT

The godowns destroyed are the Shanghai Public Godown, Kiangsu Bank Godown and the Wei Kee, An Kee, Chen Kee and Yüe Kong Godowns. It is understood that most of the stocks which filled the buildings are stocks on which various Chinese banks have loaned money and much of the goods was stored by the banks.

It is estimated that the loss in steam filatures silk will run between 3,000 and 3,500 bales, which leaves only about 1,500 bales of stock in Shanghai. This means that many dealers will be unable to fulfill contracts and it is understood that all firm offers were withdrawn yesterday.

The cocoon loss is between 25,000 and 30,000 piculs, these alone having an estimated valuation of Tls. 5,000,000. The destruction of these cocoons wipes out a large share of the available stock and it is anticipated that many filatures, of those which have actually been in operation, will be obliged to close down until the new crop comes in May.

The loss in this one fire is nearly three times the total loss recorded during the eight years, during which time the aggregate amounted to something over Tls. 3,690,000.

Native interest at the Chinese banks dropped from .5 percent to .2 on account of the fire and the Chinese institutions are reported to have withdrawn large sums of money from the foreign banks.

There were three false alarms of fire yesterday and shortly before 7 p.m. a small outbreak in Haining Road required about twenty minutes of attention from the Brigade.

Nanchang Honors Ex-Civil Governor

(Staff Correspondence)

Nanchang, March 8.—The present civil governor Chi Yang who was asked to resign his post by the Peking government was tended a farewell banquet by the military governor, Chen Kuan Yuan. The gathering was held in the recently finished meeting hall and theater at the military governor's yamen. Among those present were the heads of departments of both the civil and military governments, the leading gentrymen, merchants, bankers and professional men.

The affair was a brilliant and formal one, ending with a most thrilling Chinese play of the Ching dynasty. The military governor was in high spirits because the occasion marked the formal opening of the new building.

The removal of Chi Yang is the result of an agitation on the part of the provincial assembly started more than a year ago. Since Chi had held the position for more than seven years it was thought best to have a change of administration and invite in a Kiangsi man to handle governmental affairs. Accordingly Chao Tsung Fan a native of Nan Feng district and at present in the salt administration at Hangchow was asked to come. It is expected that he will arrive to take up his duties within the sixty days.

Anti-Reds Appeal To U.S. For Food

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, March 10.—There is now no doubt that the insurrection in Russia was the work of revolutionary socialists, most of whose leaders have left Paris for Reval where they intend to form a new Russian government immediately.

Petrograd is entirely in the hands of the Insurgents.

The director of the Russian Red Cross, M. Gutchkoff has cabled to President Harding asking him for a supply of food and money for the White army whose success, he says, "depends entirely on their power of enduring hunger longer than the Moscow government."

He also asks President Harding to place 6,000 tons of foodstuffs belonging to the Hoover organisation in Finland at the disposal of General Kozlovsky's temporary government at Kronstadt.

Course In Dietetics Offered By Peking Medical College

A limited number of scholarships will be available providing free board, lodging, tuition, and travelling expenses, in return for assistance in the work of supervision. The duration of the course will be four months. In special cases, arrangements may be made for a longer period.

Work in both foreign and Chinese diets will be given. The course is open to Europeans and Americans, and to Chinese having a good command of the English language. As the facilities are limited applicants engaged in institutional work and those having a fair working knowledge of the Chinese language will be given the preference. Persons interested may secure detailed information by communicating with Miss McCullough, care of the Peking Union Medical College, Peking.

(Reuter's Service)

New York, March 10.—A fund of half a-million dollars is being organised as a tribute to ex-President Wilson. The interest from this fund is to be awarded annually by the ex-President to the person judged to have rendered the greatest service to humanity, on similar lines to the terms of the Nobel peace prize.

JAPANESE BAR RICKSHA RUNNER

Kakusuke Ando, risha man and reported in Japan to be the holder of the world's record for the 26-mile race, has been forever barred from taking part in marathon races by the Athletic Association of Japan because he is a ricsha man, says the "Hochi," which has promoted and sponsored several long distance races in Japan, the last being a relay race from Tokio in Moto Hakonemachi and back.

In telling of the disbarment, however, the "Hochi" merely says it is because he is a ricsha man, and fails to make clear whether this is because he might be considered a professional or merely because of social position.

Mr. Ando, the paper says, still has blazing within his heart the desire to compete with Mr. Sansbiro Kanaguro. Mr. Kanaguro cordially responded, and the race is to be arranged.

Mr. Ando gained his great reputation when he made 26 4-5 miles in 2 hours and 30 minutes, says the "Hochi," which adds that it is a world's record.

Plague Outbreak Reaches Chihli

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tsinanfu, March 8.—Pneumonic plague has broken out in Chihli and Northern Shantung. A number of cases have been carefully studied and the nature of the epidemic has been fully identified.

Reports indicate that there have been at least 100 deaths so far, spread over an area enclosing 12 villages in the neighborhood of Tehchow.

In more than one instance whole families have been wiped out. The action of the plague bears all the usual earmarks, the course of the disease being most rapid.

Combative action is already being taken by medical men in the region.

The Tientsin-Pukow Railway has announced the suspension of the selling of passenger tickets to and from stations between Yangliutsing, Tientsin and Sangtsetien on account of the outbreak of plague at a village near Sangyuan station, Chihli.

Chinese Prepare To Attack Ungern

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, March 11.—The Chinese military authorities in Manchuria have at last dispatched troops to Hailar, dislocating Baron Ungern's base there. Meanwhile Baron Ungern is increasing the number of his troops, and developing Urga as a base of operations against the Reds. While the Chita Government has not suggested co-operation or independent action against Baron Ungern, it is known that the Red forces at Kiakta are being strengthened.

Earl B. Rose Is Missing; Warrant Out For Arrest

tion of Mr. Rose and his disappearance will be clarified.

THE MISSING SHARES

Mr. MacDonnell said yesterday that the circumstances that led him to apply for a warrant had only come to his knowledge last Monday. He explained that under the terms of an agreement between Sonn Brothers Company and their compradore certain securities that had been given as surety by the compradore had been turned over to Mr. Rose, acting as the company's attorney. Mr. MacDonnell said he had had occasion last Monday to make an inquiry concerning these securities, which consisted of cotton shares of a par value of Tls. 9,590, but of a considerably larger market value.

Mr. Fessenden to whom he addressed his inquiry, Mr. MacDonnell said, was unable to find any trace of the shares in question. He said it was then found that they had been used by Mr. Rose and a further investigation, he added, disclosed that Mr. Rose as long ago as early last July had given the shares as security for a loan of Gold $7,000 that he had obtained from the Asia Banking Corporation.

At this time Mr. Rose was still a patient at Fearn's Sanitarium where he was undergoing treatment for an attack of typhoid. Mr. MacDonnell said as the outcome of the discovery and acting upon the advice of Mr. Fessenden he applied for the warrant.

Mr. Fessenden confirmed all that Mr. MacDonnell said. He added that while he himself was in a position to profer additional charges against his former partner he had decided not to do so. He said he had been entirely unwilling to shield the missing attorney from the consequences of his acts and promptly had advised Mr. MacDonnell to prosecute but he said he did not want to do this himself. He explained this, saying it was by reason of the feeling that had developed from long association and particularly it was due to the sympathy he felt for Mr. Rose's wife and five children who are sailing for America today on the steamer Fushimi Maru.

LEAVES NOTE

It was his belief, Mr. Fessenden said, that Mr. Rose left Shanghai on the steamer Yeiko Maru, which sailed for Yokohama at 10 o'clock last Tuesday morning. He said that on Tuesday afternoon after he had made a number of ineffectual efforts to get in touch with Mr. Rose he found that Mr. Rose had visited the office and had left there a number of papers and a farewell note. Mr. Fessenden said that in the note Mr. Rose had written that he was sailing that morning at 10 o'clock. He said he looked up steamer schedules and when he found that a ship had sailed at the hour mentioned he concluded that his former partner had left at the time stated.

It remains, however, that it is not definitely known when Mr. Rose left and it is not known, in fact whether he has gone. An official of Fearn's Sanitarium said yesterday that Mr. Rose left that institution late Wednesday night, something more than a day after the sailing of the Yeiko Maru. No other reports of his movements have been made, so far as is known, but a reservation he had had on the Japanese steamer had been cancelled.

In the event that the missing man has gone to Japan it is wholly questionable whether he can be apprehended there or extradited. The American Consulate declined to supply information concerning any passport that may have been issued.

NO EXTRADITION

No extradition agreement between Japan and the United States is in existence and it is thought unlikely here by attorneys that the missing man could be brought back even if he were located in Japan. A number of criminal cases however, are on record here in which offenders have been returned to the jurisdiction of the United States Court for China from Japan, but it is stated that these cases were special acts of courtesy on the part of the Japanese Government.

It is since the time of the Chinese New Year observance that the mesnes have begun to close around the missing attorney. The first open questioning of his activities came about at a meeting of the American Bar Association several weeks ago. Mr. Fessenden, his former associate, confirmed the report yesterday that it was he himself who made the motion at this meeting that a committee to investigate Mr. Rose's activities be appointed with a view to disbarment. Mr. Fessenden and Mr. MacDonnell supplied the testimony before the committee of the Bar Association that led to the disbarment proceedings that were conducted in the United States Court for China last Monday and Mr. Fessenden and Mr. MacDonnell were the only witnesses heard at these proceedings. The charges in these proceedings were filed in the United States Court for China on March 3. On March 5, Saturday, Mr. Rose entered his appearance by mail, but when the proceedings came on for hearing last Monday he did not appear.

FORMER COURT CLERK

Mr. Rose came to Shanghai in 1915 to take the positions of clerk of the United States Court for China and Disbursing Officer in China for the United States Government. He was an attorney at law and some time after his arrival was admitted to the bar. On giving up his federal posts he became junior member of the firm of Jernigan and Fessenden in 1917. He is said to be about 28 years old and his family name has long been familiar, particularly in political circles in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, his home city, in which his father served as mayor no less than for five terms.

American authorities said yesterday that they had no knowledge of the missing man's whereabouts.

THE DISBARMENT RULING

Following is the text of Judge Lobingier's ruling in which the missing attorney is disbarred:

The following is the order for the disbarment of Rose:

In re

Earl B. Rose
Respondent.

SYLLABUS

(By the Court)

1. Attorneys: Disbarment: Deceit and misconduct justifying disbarment are shown by an attorney who takes the securities of his clients, left with him for safe keeping and pledges them to others against personal loans made to himself.

2. Id.: Id.: Prior conviction in a criminal proceeding is not a prerequisite to such disbarment.

H. D. Rouger, Special U. S. Attorney, for the complaint. Nemo, contra.

LOBINGIER, J.

This cause come on for hearing upon the complaint and the evidence, the Special Assistant U. S. Attorney appearing in support of the complaint but the respondent failing to appear and the evidence disclosing that he has fled the jurisdiction after having been served with notice of this proceeding.

It appears from the testimony of James MacDonell and Stirling Fessenden that the respondent, a member of the bar of this court and at the time also a member of the law firm of Jernigan, Fessenden and Rose, took certain securities for large amounts which had been entrusted by clients to him as a member of said firm in connection with the drafting of contracts for them, and pledged the said securities to various banks against personal loans to the respondent. These transactions appear to have extended over more than a year but the respondent seems to have succeeded by plausible explanations in allaying suspicion so that discovery of the full details, by those interested, was prevented until quite recently. Indeed the deceit practiced toward these parties after the original misappropriation of the securities was not the least serious part of the offense.

Under a statute previously applied by this court it is empowered to disbar an attorney who is "guilty of any wilful deceit or misconduct in his profession." And prior conviction in a criminal prosecution is not a prerequisite to such disbarment, though in this instance such a prosecution was instituted as soon as complaint was to the prosecuting officer and is still pending awaiting apprehension of the accused.

The Court, therefore, finds that the averments of the complaint are true and that the respondent has been guilty both of "willful deceit" and "misconduct in his profession," justifying disbarment.

It is accordingly ordered and adjudged that the respondent's admission to the bar of this court be and the same is hereby revoked and that he be and hereby is disbarred from practicing in all American Courts in China.

By the Court,
CHARLES S. LOBINGIER.
Judge.

Traffic Court Opens With Sixteen Cases

The special Traffic Court had its inauguration at the Mixed Court yesterday when Assessor Hutchison and Magistrate Tsang heard sixteen instances of violation of the local traffic ordinances.

Fines ranging from $3 to $25 were distributed among the offenders summonsed—except in one case, where two days imprisonment was ordered. One man charged with running at between 25 and 35 miles an hour in a motor car on Bubbling Well Road was fined $25 and another, who was also speeding on the same thoroughfare and who ran into a danger signal erected where repair work was being done, was fined $15.

The fines in general ran higher than those assessed previously when traffic cases came before the ordinary sessions of the Court and it is to be hoped that this consequence of the creation of a separate tribunal for the consideration of such offenses will have a salutary effect.

SINO-GERMAN TREATY DRAFTED

No Mention Of Extraterritoriality In Pact—To Exchange Envoys

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, March 8.—Word is received that the terms of the new Sino-German commercial treaty have been drafted, and that all that remains to be considered is the language of the text. The treaty, which, it is understood, has been referred by the German representative in Peking to his home government for final approval, is reported to be based on the treaty of Sino-Bolivia, making no reference to extra-territorial privileges.

This means that hereafter Germans in China will be subject to China's laws and regulations. As soon as the treaty is signed by the contracting governments, exchange of ministers will take place.

PURPLE MOUNTAIN COLONISER SPEAKS AT CLUB TIFFIN

Prof. Joseph Bailie To Address University Men At Carlton Wednesday

Prof. Joseph Bailie, founder of the Agricultural College of Nanking University who has been making an extensive trip throughout the United States on behalf of the Peking University, will speak at the general tiffin-meeting of the American University Club to be held on Wednesday at noon at the Carlton Cafe.

Prof. Bailie has been touring the states for the last year to arrange with the industrial plants in America to allow Chinese students to gain practical experience in workshops. He will tell his experiences and make suggestions as to how the local university men can best assist the students.

Decision to hold the meeting was reached at the meeting of the executive committee held yesterday at the Union Club. Mr. L. C. Perry, chairman of the entertainment committee, will arrange for musical program for the Wednesday meeting.

An effort will be made by the membership committee to approach all Chinese returned students from American and Canadian colleges and ask them to sign the membership roll. Mr. Deming is chairman of the membership committee.

Dr. Bailie will leave for Shantung and Peking the latter part of next week and make his report to the University.

Twelve new members were admitted to the club by the committee at its meeting yesterday.

Prof. Bailie gained fame as the "Purple Mountain Coloniser" and is known throughout China for his efforts in behalf of the Chinese people. As dean of the University of Nanking Agricultural College, he nurtured the first institution of its kind in the country. The inception of the college followed the proposing of the scheme to colonise certain parts of China.

As soon as its success is assured, he asked that he be allowed to devote his energies to colonising projects. A location some 100 miles from Kirin was chosen to carry out his project. When the work was well started, the Japanese Consul complained that "an Englishman was out there at Omuhsien getting hold of the land of Manchuria." The consul was duly informed by the Kirin Governor of the work that Prof. Bailie was doing.

On the night of June 26, 1919, he was severely beaten by six soldiers after which he was stripped of his belongings. He refrained from reporting this to the British authorities because he said: "Innocent Chinese must then pay indemnity for the depredations of Chinese militarism, and China is not responsible for this militarism."

HOW TO TAKE CORNS OUT SO THEY NEVER COME BACK.

"You simply use saltrated water which does the trick for us soldiers every time, and also cures bunions, aching, tenderness, blisters, chilblains, or even rheumatic and gouty pains."— says C. S. TURNER, formerly of the R.A.M.C.

Cutting the top of a corn off with a razor or burning it off with caustic lotions, plasters, etc., doesn't do any good. The root just sprouts right up again, and soon your corn has a brand new top on it, bigger than ever. The top is only dead skin anyway. The business end of a corn is the little pointed part, or core, that extends down into the toe. That is what hurts when it presses on sensitive nerves, and it is the part you have to get out. Cutting the top off an aching tooth wouldn't stop the ache. Same way with a corn. Don't worry about the top. Get the root out permanently by using a good big handful of Reudel Bath Saltrates (you can get a half-pound at slight cost from any chemist) dissolved in a gallon or so of hot water. Just soak your feet in this for fifteen or twenty minutes, then take hold of the corn with your fingers, and out she'll come, root and all, like the bull comes out of a strawberry. Only a little hole or depression is left in the toe, and that soon closes, so there is nothing left in there to sprout a new corn again. It doesn't affect the surrounding flesh at all, but soon softens the whole of the corn. No burning or soreness, no pain, no danger, no trouble, and no days of waiting to see whether that old corn is going to leave for good or come back to stay with you a while longer. Soften callouses the same way, then scrape off, and I don't dare tell you how quick this medicated water, made with Reudel Bath Saltrates, will always drive aches, chafes, blisters, etc., away, and even cure rheumatic or gouty pains. It would sound too good to be true, but thousands of soldiers can tell what wonderful stuff saltrated water is.—C. S. T.

INVITE NAVIES TO SEND TEAMS FOR OLYMPICS

British, French, Italian And American Commanders Urged To Come

BASEBALL CLUB MAY ACT

Committee Meets Monday And Will Probably Ask Strauss To Send Navy Nine

The Commanders-in-Chief of the British, French and Italian naval squadrons in China waters have been invited to the Far Eastern Championship Games by the China Contest Committee and yesterday Dr. J. H. Gray, who is in charge of the games, wrote to each of the naval heads, asking that officers and men be sent here to compete in the open international sports. The British, particularly, are expected to send strong soccer football teams while many British sailors will enter the track and field games.

French sailors will enter the rugby football tourney while French and Italian sailors will both probably enter the track and field events. If entries are sufficient for special events, special medals and prizes will be secured by private individuals.

The Commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic Fleet, Admiral Joseph Strauss, has also been invited and the China Contest Committee has requested the American Admiral to allow the U.S.S. Huron and 13 destroyers, bound for Chefoo, to remain here during the Olympics. It has been suggested to the Admiral that all Navy athletes be temporarily assigned to the flagship or one of the destroyers so that the Navy may be represented by a strong all-around team.

There is a possibility that the Baseball Club Committee, which is to hold a meeting early next week, will ask the American Admiral to assure a strong Navy team to be in Shanghai for the Olympics. The sailors have a chance to get into shape in Manila and Hongkong and would come here with a crack nine.

The invitation to the American, British, French and Italian navies to send representatives will help create interest among the foreign community here.

For Rifle Men

Are sights necessary when shooting the rifle at moving targets? "Ad" Topperwein who is one of the best known fancy rifle shots is emphatic in his statement that they are:

"I have been asked this question a thousand times," he says.

"I have answered the question a thousand times by saying that I positively do.

"A great many people who follow the shooting game are under the impression that it is utterly impossible for a shooter, no matter how expert he may be to actually 'catch and line' up the sights on a fast moving target and that all such shooting as hitting small pieces of coal, brick, marble, etc., in mid-air is simply done by 'instinct' which they claim is acquired by constant practice and that the performer does not see his sights at all.

"Some wise ones even go as far as saying that a good man with lots of practice could shoot just as well if he knocked the sights off his gun and just shot by simply pointing the gun, like one points the finger.

"The sights of a rifle or revolver are put there for a purpose, a very important purpose. They are just as necessary as the rifling in your barrel. Not only must you have sights, but they must be adjusted accurately to make your bullet go straight to the mark. A rifle without accurate sights is absolutely useless as far as accuracy is concerned, even in the hands of the most expert marksman.

"When you meet up with a shooter who claims that he does not use or see his sights, ask him to knock them off. Then watch him shoot. This will tell the story.

"Snap shooting at moving objects with a rifle or revolver is only accomplished with a great deal of steady practice. The eye, brain and finger must work together in perfect harmony and the most important factor is the gun which must be accurately sighted.

SAYS NAVY POWER IS IN BATTLESHIPS

General Board Asserts America Cannot Cope With Other Navies Without Them

PAST WARS AS PROOF

Special Report To Senate Urges No Break In Capital Ship Construction

Washington, Feb 3.—Answering the request of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, Secretary of the Navy Daniels sent to that committee today a special report of the General Board of the Navy as to what, in its opinion, will "form the main strength of the navies of the world in the future." The report was the Navy Department's answer to the Borah resolution, which directed the Committee on Naval Affairs to report to the Senate "as to the policy of suspending the present naval building program for six months, to the end that investigation may be had as to what constitutes a modern navy."

The General Board holds that submarines, light cruisers and commerce destroyers have their place in all well-proportioned navies, but the battleship remains "the basis of sea power," and in modern naval warfare "it is upon the most powerful type of all—the battleship—that the decision will depend."

"Today," the General Board states, "the opponents of the battleship are basing their arguments upon the present and prospective, especially the prospective, development of submarines and aircraft. It is the old battle of words over again, like that of the torpedo against the big ship the gun against armor, speed against concentrated fighting power. We are asked to accept hopes for accomplishment.

FOR POWER CONCENTRATION

"Concentration of power in attack is the fundamental basis of all warlike operations, ashore and afloat. Naval concentration of power has been in the main fighting ships of a fleet from the ancient galley period to the present time, and the strength of a navy has always been based upon the number and power of its ships of the fighting line, that is, of its battleships.

"The rapid progress during the last half century in naval construction and maritime inventions, in motive power, ordnance and armor, in torpedoes, explosives and accessories, has so increased the power and consequent cost of battleships as to make their acquisition and maintenance a financial burden of first importance to any nation however rich. Naturally, any scheme, proposition or invention which appears to offer a less expensive, shorter road to victory is most attractive and generally finds enthusiastic supporters.

SPEED AND PUNCH

"Time and again the naval policy of maritime nations has been influenced by these arguments. Reliance upon speed and commerce destroying had its day, until it became evident that speed without punch was insufficient to win a war.

"In the early 80's, when the automobile torpedo began to develop as a weapon of fair accuracy the immediate doom of the battleship was prophesied. A single torpedo launched from a boat costing less than $100,000 was to destroy a battleship costing millions. The answer to this soon came in increased underwater protection, torpedo defense batteries, and in the larger, faster, better armed and more costly torpedo boat destroyer, which drove the smaller torpedo vessel from the sea and took permanent place in the auxiliary forces of the fleet at enhanced cost to its construction and maintenance.

"Much was expected in the late war of large, fast, well drilled squadrons of torpedo boat destroyers that would launch a flock of torpedoes against the capital ships in battle formation with fatal effect. At the battle of Jutland when these tactics were tried out they failed. Several ships were hit but not destroyed. The British battleship Marlborough, after being torpedoed remained in the line and got safely back to port.

"The fast light cruiser, raider, commerce destroyer were again tried out in the World War. The von Spee squadron, the Emden and a few other vessels of similar types brought a certain amount of distinction to the German Navy, but as the German battle fleet could not support them they eventually succumbed to superior British force which commanded the sea. Speed and dodging again failed.

SUBMARINES UNDER CONTROL

"During the late war the submarine, a new weapon never before tried in war, received enormous development. Its employment against certain types of vessels, particularly slow, unprotected, merchant vessels, was entirely unexpected. The submarine is the most successful weapon in its qualities of concealment and surprise yet advanced. It came very near winning the war for Germany. But, as always, necessity and invention combined found means to meet the menace and reduce it to controllable limits.

The successful employment of the destroyer and other speedy vessels with their depth bombs, the motor boat with its listening devices, submarine against submarine, developed a defense against submarine attack to a point where it was successfully met. It took a long time, but again surprise and dodging failed.

"The capital ship survived this, perhaps the most serious danger to which it has yet been exposed, and further improvements in under-water protection as well as in other ways have greatly minimised it. As a matter of fact throughout the war, though the cruising ground of the Grand Fleet was infested by submarines, eventually brought to a high state of perfection by the Germans, not a single battleship of that fleet was sunk or even very seriously injured by submarine attack. The protection measures adopted were successful and the Grand Fleet frequently traversed the North Sea and adjacent waters unharmed and at will. There is no reason to believe that the defense along these lines will not continue to keep pace with the offense."

Answering the query as to the future naval aircraft, the General Board, without minimizing the great importance of the naval air arm, asserts that it may be confidently predicted invention will provide means for meeting the future development of the bomb and torpedo carrying aircraft and that airships and airplanes will continue to be only adjuncts of the well-rounded out fleet.

AIRCRAFT INFLUENCE SLOW

"No one can fortell, the General Board adds, "what the developments in aviation may bring in the modification of present accepted types of surface vessels, but it may be confidently asserted that changes of type due to this influence will be slow and will not seriously effect the value of the ships now built or to be built in the near future." Changes in military characteristics of battle and other surface ships are frequent in these days of progress in invention, but no revolutionary change is to be expected. Secrecy as to basic characteristics cannot be maintained and means of defense move in parallel lines and at about the same speed with those of offense.

"There is no doubt, however," the Board continues, "that the future employment of aircraft in connection with naval operations will introduce new problems of attack and defense of far-reaching importance. They will become increasingly valuable adjuncts of the fleet."

CALL FOR TREATY ON DISARMAMENT

Senate Committee Amends Borah Resolution And Then Reports Favorably

WOULD NEGOTIATE TERMS

Urges Parleys With Britain And Japan To Cut Navies To 'Such An Extent' As Is Agreed

Washington, Jan. 20.—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations reported favorably today, in an amended form, the Borah naval disarmament resolution. As amended the resolution calls for the prompt negotiation of a treaty by the United States, Great Britain and Japan by the terms of which these Governments will effect an agreement to begin at once the cutting down of their naval programs, the reduction to be brought about in the next five years.

In its original form the Borah resolution did not mention the word "treaty," but suggested disarmament on the part of the nations concerned "by which the building programs of each of the said Governments, to wit, that of Great Britain, Japan and the United States, shall be reduced gradually during the next five years 50 percentum of the present estimates or figures."

The resolution as reported out does not mention the percentage of reduction to be accomplished, but suggests that the reduction shall be to such an extent and upon such terms as may be agreed upon.

Efforts to have the resolution introduced by Senator Walsh of Montana, which would authorise the President to send an American representative to participate in the proceedings of the Disarmament Commission of the League of Nations, were voted down, as was also a motion to include France and Italy in the naval reduction treaty which it is proposed to negotiate.

RESOLUTION AS REPORTED

As reported out by the committee the disarmament resolution reads:

"Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the President of the United States is requested, if not incompatible with the public interests, to advise the Government of Great Britain and Japan, respectively, that this Government will take up directly with their Governments and without waiting upon the action of any other nation the question of naval disarmament, with a view of promptly entering into a treaty by which naval building programs of each of said Governments, to wit, that of Great Britain, Japan and the United States, shall be reduced annually during the next five years to such an extent and upon such terms as may be agreed upon.

"Section 2. That this proposition is suggested by the Congress of the United States to accomplish immediately a substantial reduction of the naval armaments of the world."

Following the defeat of the motion to report the Walsh resolution Senator Pomerene of Ohio offered the Walsh resolution as an amendment to the Borah resolution. As offered by Senator Pomerene the amendment read:

"Resolved, That the President be, and he hereby is, requested to express to the Council of the League of Nations the earnest desire of the Government of the United States to co-operate with the commission so by the said Council appointed and with the said Council in the formulation of plans looking to a general reduction of armaments, for submission to the several Governments for their consideration and action, and that he be, and hereby is, further requested to appoint with due authority such a representative."

The amendment was defeated by a strict party vote.

McCUMBER WOULD BROADEN

The motion to include France and Italy in the proposed naval disarmament negotiations was made by Senator McCumber of North Dakota. The motion was strongly supported by Senator Williams of Mississippi. The majority insisted, however on limiting the scope of the resolution to the three powers named in the original resolution, and as amended the resolution was voted out favorably, all of the Democrats, with the exception of Mr. Williams, voting with the majority on the final poll. The failure to include France and Italy was the reason for Mr. Williams's continued opposition.

The entire preamble of the original Borah resolution was also omitted from the final and approved draft. The preamble recited the report published in Japan, that while Japan "sincerely desires to support a program of disarmament" she has been unable to do so because "of the attitude and building program" of the United States.

Senator Borah announced that he would make every effort to have the resolution acted upon by the Senate at the very earliest opportunity, but according to some observers it is doubtful if it will be acted on at this session.

O.S.K. Will Tie Up Its Older Vessels

European Run Is Most Unprofitable, But Company Must Maintain Ships On It

The Osaka Shosen Kaisha is reported to be making separate balance sheets for the various shipping lines in order to see which line is profitable or unprofitable. This is regarded as a preliminary step to the adoption of a suspension policy.

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha has already tied up two old ships but no ship has so far been tied up by the Osaka Shosen Kaisha. This company is now confronted with the necessity of considering whether it is not advisable to adopt a tying-up policy in some cases. This is due not only to the continued depression of the freight situation but to the acquisition of new steamers.

At the end of December the Hamburg Maru, 8,000 tons, bought from the Uchida Shokai, was delivered, and the Shunko Maru, 12,000 tons, was purchased from the Goko Shokai, in January. These ships may with advantage take the place of some older vessels now being operated.

Of the shipping lines maintained by the Osaka-Shosen Kaisha, it is said that the least profitable is the European run. But on this line the company is affiliated with the Oriental Freight Conference, and it was only after great and prolonged efforts that the company was admitted.

It is necessary for the Osaka Shosen Kaisha to maintain its position on the European run, and, therefore, it is not expected that it will withdraw any ships from this line. The company will probably withdraw some old vessels from the Pacific or Australian runs.

NEW DISEASE: BLUE SPOTS

Cause, Applying Iodine After Eating Ice Cream

Pittsburgh, Feb. 3.—"A rare malady," declared Dr. E. R. Behn as he examined Miss Lucille Reed yesterday. There were dark blue spots all over her body. Two other physicians were called for consultation. The patient's left leg was a dark walnut color. She had painted it with iodine.

"What did you eat Tuesday," she was asked.

"Only ice cream, but lots of it."

Light broke over the face of Dr. Behn.

"I have it," he said. "The iodine which you used on your leg entered the pores and coming in contact with the starchy matter in the ice cream which you ate, caused the peculiar dark spots which appear on your body, the same as certain foods develop hives on the cuticle of human beings. Iodine action on starch turns it blue and that is how the blue spots came."

FIRST 'DRY' YEAR CALLED A SUCCESS

Prohibition Director Believes Law Is Being Enforced In New York

HE ADMITS OPPOSITION

Blames Average Citizen's Tendency To Regard Infractions Lightly

New York, Jan. 4.—"Before the first year has passed since national prohibition became effective, we can report that its success is assured. The difficulties of organisation have been met successfully."

That is what Charles R. O'Connor, Federal Prohibition Director for this State, said in reviewing the work of his office during the year the Eighteenth Amendment has been in effect.

"The attempts of all the forces of evil and of the underworld to circumvent and destroy the law have been and are being successfully combated," continued Mr. O'Connor. "Violators are waking up to the fact that the game is over, that it is now as difficult to beat the National Prohibition act as the Banking act or any other law.

"All those who entered the business as a get-rich-quick scheme have quit or have been forced out. The saloon is gone, and the distribution of liquor is practically stopped, except at prohibitive prices. Surely the record made by national prohibition in these United States of ours in its first year is one of militancy and of progress."

Mr. O'Connor recalled the difficulties encountered at the beginning, when a separate department of the Government was created.

"This Federal Prohibition Department," he said, "had to be built from the ground, which was no small task, especially in view of the fact that the work of the department, in a measure, ran counter to the habits and, it would seem, wishes of a very considerable portion of our population.

"The volume of business which the Prohibition Department at the very outset was called upon to handle was so greatly in excess of that contemplated, not only by the framers of the act, but by every one connected with the organisation of this department, that it seemed for a time the force which had been provided would be overwhelmed.

"As a striking example of the extent to which the work was underestimated there were originally assigned to the office of the Federal Prohibition Director of the State of New York 12 inspectors to take care of the work of the State, with its teeming population numbering in excess of 10,000,000 people."

SOON OUTGREW OFFICES

The department under the direction of Mr. O'Connor began to function in a space about 20 by 30 feet on West Twenty-third Street, with five clerks and literally thousands of applications for permits, previously filed with the several Internal Revenue Collectors who had charge under the so-called Wartime Prohibition act. No one seemed to have any authentic information regarding these applications and bonds, Mr. O'Connor said. Similar conditions existed in his Albany office. For several months the Director's office has occupied the ninth floor of the building at 49 to 55 West Twenty-seventh Street, and fifty clerks are employed. The work in the Albany office is handled by fifteen clerks.

"Not only was there difficulty in perfecting the organisation of the department," Mr. O'Connor continued, "but the law was new, and every step taken was like that of an explorer going into undiscovered and uncharted land. Many intricate and perplexing questions not only of policy but of procedure and departmental practice had to be worked out. When it was sought to enforce prohibition many of our people, especially those in the great cities, whose habits and traditions had not only permitted but required alcoholic stimulants for beverage purposes, were unalterably opposed, and many of them seemed to take the position that there was really nothing morally wrong and no moral turpitude involved in violating the act, even though it were a Federal statute. This attitude has made the administration of the law extremely difficult.

"Many persons sought by every means at their command, stopping at nothing short of murder, to obtain liquors for themselves or the abnormal profits to be made.

"It was not to be expected that national prohibition affecting all the people could be accomplished without a repetition to some extent of the troubles and scandals which have involved individual, city and State efforts at liquor control. The result has been that considerable liquor has been obtained by various illegal devices, for instance, by the use of forged permits."

Several thousand permits must be signed daily in both the New York and the Albany office, so it became necessary to use a facsimile stamp of the director's signature. The stamp was not only forged, but the secret mark on the permits was discovered and also forged.

"Various devices have been tried from time to time to prevent the forger from operating successfully," Mr. O'Connor said, "until it is believed that at the present time we are reasonably protected."

SUSPECT NOW AT LARGE

Mr. O'Connor related a hitherto untold incident of the boldness of the men who regarded the Prohibition law so lightly:

"So bold did these violators become," Mr. O'Connor said, "that one man came into the office of the department, signed the name of a 'permittee' to a permit to purchase, swore to the signature and to the affidavit accompanying it, all in the name of the 'permittee' whom he was impersonating. Certain suspicious circumstances, however, appeared and a rigid investigation was immediately ordered.

"The man who had committed the forgery was brought to the office of the department, interviewed by me personally, denied in the most emphatic manner that he had forged the name, but said he would produce the man who did. I sent for an inspector to take him in charge and go with him and find the man whom he said had committed the forgery, whereupon he dashed out of my office in such haste that he left his hat, never to return. I caused the matter to be immediately presented to the Federal Grand Jury, he was indicted and is now a fugitive from justice."

Hundreds of the original basic permits issued in this State have been revoked or canceled. "There were originally issued in this State more than 1,700 wholesale permits," Mr. O'Connor said. "Inspections and supervision have reduced the number actively engaged in the business to less than 500, and many manufacturing permits have been revoked. At the present time it is my belief that much of the diversion of liquor is accomplished through the medium of the manufacturing permit."

Mr. O'Connor evidently had in mind the recent disclosures of alleged corrupt clerks in his office in the sale of liquor permits when he said:

"At the time this department was organised efficient help was scarce and governmental salaries relatively small. For this reason we were not in all instances able to procure the persons best qualified to handle the volume of business in the office, and some undesirable people, realising the opportunity for favoring friends, were able to work their way into the department. These have been eliminated."

Give Up Society To Live In Cabin

Mr. And Mrs. M. Toscan Bennett Will Leave Hartford For Home In Social Settlement

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 3.—M. Toscan Bennett and his wife, announced today that they intend to sever their connections with society life, dispose of their possessions in Hartford and live in a log cabin which they will build at the new social settlement, the Brookwood School, at Katonah, N. Y., where their daughters, Katherine and Frances, already are in attendance. The Bennetts, who are prominent socially and politically, intend to keep no servants and will be free to pack up and go to any other place whenever they wish.

Mrs. Bennett is widely known in the woman suffrage movement. Mr. Bennett was formerly a law partner of Charles A. Goodwin, cousin of J. P. Morgan and Ernest Walker Smith, brother of Herbert Knox Smith. He took a leading part in the Farmer-Labor Party Convention which nominated Parley P. Christensen for President. He also was in the American Labor Party movement in Connecticut and was nominated by the Farmer-Labor Party for United States Senator.

Besides their Hartford property, the Bennetts have a country home at Farmington which they will dispose of. Their son, M. Toscan Bennett Jr., is in college and will not join the family at Brookwood School.

Mrs. Bennett expressed tonight keen regret at leaving her friends of the labor party in Hartford and the State. She is the daughter of the late General George H. Day. Her husband is the son of Martin B. Bennett, first United States manager of the Scottish Union and National Insurance Company of Edinburgh.

The Brookwood School is about a mile outside of Katonah, and occupies fifty-three acres. Its purpose is to prepare workers for the new social order. The pupils, mostly from the working classes, comprise those who want a more just social order. The institution is financed through voluntary contributions, and Mrs. Bennett believes it means the beginning of a peaceful revolt against the present order of things.

A further decline in nearly all prices has to be reported from this week's auction, owing to a general absence of buying orders from the consuming markets.

All lots, but two, of Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet were withdrawn as sellers would not accept buyers' reduced limits.

Off Quality Sheet was wanted showing a decline of about 2 cents.

Standard 1st Latex fetched 38½ cents.

Off Color Latex, which met with a fair demand, maintained the same prices as last week.

Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes were in good demand, and prices on an average show no change.

Cotton Market

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their cotton market report of today.

China Cotton: While our market during the week just ended has not shown any marked activity, prices remained steady with a firmer undertone at the close and which may be ascribed to the inherent withholding strength manifested in the interior marts and the heavy operations which have taken place in speculative circles insomuch as to have engendered for the time being a bullish feeling in the trade in general.

The demand for Yarn has not been as strong as was expected a little while ago and Mills continue keeping aloof, apparently well supplied with the raw material for their immediate requirements; nevertheless, the general sentiment is that prices on the local staple will be well maintained with an outlook for improvement and particularly so should our industrious neighbor, at any moment, considering the favorable exchange now prevalent, decide to absorb a fair portion of the local stocks. Tone of the Market, Steady.

Peking, being the capital city of China with both foreign and Chinese residences, and as the area is so large, all municipal improvements must be built gradually. The remaining portion of this property will be used for three classes of residential houses of two stories, all facing south, with a garden attached to each. All houses are connected with proper roads and provided with sewage connection, and water supply for modern bath rooms. It is hoped that all architects will submit drawings and designs for this improvement. Prizes are provided for the successful architects. An outline of the conditions is as follows:

PRIZES: 1st $2,000
2nd $1,000

The architect who is awarded the 1st prize shall also be chosen as the architect for the principal building of the central part.

Hongkong Share Market

Messrs. Moxon and Taylor write as follows in their weekly share report dated Hongkong, March 4.

Business is becoming normal again after last week's holidays on account of the races and a fair number of transactions have to be recorded.

The continued slump in sterling exchange has a firming effect on most dollar stocks.

The Shanghai market is somewhat better and no doubt some impetus has been given to Cotton stocks in the Ewo group by the amalgamation mentioned below.

Rubber shares are the subject of some inquiry from Shanghai, probably due to the lower exchange.

Hongkong Banks:—Are wanted at $765 ex dividend.

Cantons:—Are firmer with buyers at $445.

Unions:—Are wanted at $255.

Wharfs:—After sales at $91 are steady.

Hongkong Docks:—Are firm at $176.

Deferred Indos:—Have been the subject of considerable business at varying rates. After rising to $300 the London Register Shares slipped back to $265 at which price buyers again prevail. London quotations £35.0.0.

China Sugars:—Are steady at $264 with business done at $268 for April.

Douglases:—Are wanted at $69.

Steamboats:—Have sellers at $25.00

Trams:—Have risen to $10.25 buyers.

Hongkong Electrics:—Are wanted at $20.

Cements:—Are firm at $11½ (ex dividend of $1.00).

Star Ferries:—Could be placed at $28½.

Hongkong Lands:—Are in strong demand at $136.

Shanghai Docks:—Are firm at Tls. 132.

Shanghai Cotton Quotations are as follows:—Ewos Tls. 396½, Kungyiks Tls. 39½, Orientals Tls. 17¼, Shanghai Cottons Tls. 120½, Yangtszepoos Tls. 25½.

Shanghai Hotels Company, Ltd.

The twenty-sixth ordinary general meeting of the Shanghai Hotels, Ltd., was held yesterday at the office of the company, 14 Kiukiang Road. Mr. Brodie A. Clarke, chairman of the board of directors, presided and was supported by Mr. Edward I. Ezra, Mr. J. E. Inch, directors, Mr. E. Burrows, secretary; Mr. Matthews, auditor Mr. Lipton Ward, legal advisor, W. J. Gande, J. H. P. Parker, Mr. O. A. Fisher and others.

The secretary having read the notice of the meeting, the chairman said:

"The balance sheet which you have before you today, is our twenty-sixth, and it is one, I think, upon which we may congratulate ourselves, the period covered by the accounts being one of steady progress and expansion.

"There is one noteworthy feature in the balance sheet to which I would first like to make special reference, and that is the company's assets are now shown at their true value. During recent years it has been the custom to create large reserves for the Astor House and Palace Hotel buildings, which have been out of proportion to the replaceable values. As a result of this revolution the financial position of the company is shown to be very strong indeed.

"Taking the assets side of the balance sheet you will observe that the Palace Hotel leasehold property, which comprises the lease and the buildings, is now valued at $1,202,972 (exchange at 73, our ordinary book rate) as against $417,600 shown in the last account. The unexpired period of the lease is 39 years, during which time the present building reserve of $150,000 will be built up proportionately. The Astor House Hotel land has been taken at the new municipal assessment of $577,643, an increased value of $147,643 over that given in the last balance sheet, and the building is valued at $877,739, or $395,114, more than last year, and the increased value of the Kalee Hotel property according to the municipal assessment and land agents valuation is $111,507.

The Bubbling Well Road property is still shown at the purchase price $527,398 as in view of the fact that we shall have to commence operations on the new hotel, the houses on the property will shortly have to be taken down.

Our sundry debtors account shows an increase of $31,248 over last year's figure, but compares very favorably with the sundry creditors account. In this connection it is interesting to note that the percentage of our bad debts is again very low, being only six-tenths of one percent of the gross income. The share investment account, it will be observed, has been increased to $293,64y. and it can be confidently expected that the present year's working will be materially added to thereby. A list of these investments can, of course, be seen by any shareholder who is interested. The item of $34,185 against new hotel expenses account is explained principally by a payment on account of our architects, Messrs. Warren and Wetmore, New York, in connection with the plans for our new hotel.

Turning to the liabilities side you will notice our capital account has been increased by $183,577.50 being the subscription at par of 24,477 ordinary shares, in exchange for the 123 founders' shares, which you will observe, are no longer in the balance sheet.

The sundry creditors account shows an increase of 26 percent which is very satisfactory when it is considered that the increase in income is 30 percent. The properties reserve account is a new item in the balance sheet, which is explained therein, is the actual difference between our book values and the values according to the new municipal assessments and land agents valuations. The difference is no less than $1,439,627, which figure, I should point out, is a conservative one, as the assessed land values may be reasonably considered lower than the market values.

Our investment in the Grand Hotel des Wagons-Lits, Peking, has proved to be very productive, having materially assisted in the results before you.

Our overdraft at the end of the year was heavier than usual, and you will be pleased to know that today it has been reduced to $312,902, which is quite satisfactory you will agree.

This brings me to the last item, viz., the profit and loss account. The profit for the year, including the balance brought forward from last account, and after allowing for depreciation written off, and making suitable provision for all bad and doubtful debts, amounts to $711,928 from which must be deducted the dividends of $333,577, already paid to the founders' and ordinary shareholders, leaving a balance of $378,350.64 which, subject to your approval, it is proposed to appropriate in the following manner:

New hotel development account	$350,000.00
Bonus to foreign and Chinese staff	6,415.51
Balance carried forward	21,935.13
	$378,350.64

Very little explanation is required I think concerning the increase in the new hotel development account, and I am quite sure you will approve of your directors' recommendation to pay the company's employes a bonus, as you are aware our hotels have been working at very high pressure during the past year, entailing considerable hard work for all members of the staff, whose efforts thoroughly deserve this recognition.

You will be interested to know that arrangements have been concluded whereby we have obtained the controlling interest in the China Motors, Ltd., of which, as you will have seen advertised in the newspapers, we have been appointed the general managers.

As you are doubtless aware, the China Motors, Ltd., are the proprietors of two of the principle garages in Shanghai—The Star and the Eastern, both of which are well equipped and in excellent running order. We think a garage business is one that may be easily worked in conjunction with our hotels, and it is confidently expected that the investment will prove to be a very profitable one.

Before formally proposing the adoption of the accounts, which I think have been placed before you as clearly as possible, I would welcome any shareholder availing himself of this opportunity of obtaining any information which he may desire.

Several points with reference to the accounts were raised and they were all answered by Mr. Ezra to the satisfaction of the inquirers. The following resolutions were then passed:

"That the reports and accounts as submitted be accepted and passed." Proposed by the chairman and seconded by Mr. Ezra.

"That Mr. J. E. Inch be re-elected a director of the company." Proposed by the chairman and seconded by Mr. Ezra and.

"That Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews be re-elected for the ensuing year at a fee of $1,500." Proposed by Mr. W. J. Gande and seconded by Mr. J. H. P. Parker.

Some Questions About The Big Fire

YESTERDAY'S great fire, involving the destruction of at least seven huge godowns which were filled with rich and costly products of China, of a value estimated in the neighborhood of Tls. 10,000,000, may mean a loss to the insurance companies represented here of something like Tls. 8,000,000. Thus in the space of a few hours the insurance men see the profits of many years' careful and painstaking labor wiped out.

It is especially to be deplored that there is some evidence indicating that the conflagration was due to incendiarism. A thorough investigation of the fire's origin will be made, of course, but whatever light on the question is obtained, the insurance people will have huge sums to pay, and we hasten to extend our sympathy to them. We hope also that the losses will turn out to be less than now appears probable.

Chief Pett and his Brigade fought the fire bravely and skilfully. It had a great start on them, there was a high wind and the water pressure was low. That they succeeded in confining the fire to the block of godowns stands to their credit. For a long time it threatened to sweep across Thibet road, but with walls falling about them and threatening to fall on them, the men of the Brigade stood their ground and prevented what might easily have become an appalling disaster.

Chief Pett and his department last year made the best record in Shanghai's fire history. The total number of calls for the year was 315, but ten less than the record year of 1917, but the property loss was only Tls. 245,000, or less than 3 percent of the property at risk. In 1914 the loss was 14 percent, since when there has been a progressive reduction, each year being better than the preceding one.

Notwithstanding this fine record, it is worthy of notice that in his annual report just issued, Chief Pett repeated his previous appeals, still unheard, for the installation of a high pressure water system. He said:

"I again regret to report that appreciably little has been done as regards this important subject. It is unnecessary to dwell upon the deficiency of the present system, for the main points have been alluded to in previous reports. The only comment I have to make is that if something is not done very quickly dire results will accrue. The water supply as regards fire can only be stated to have grown worse, so much so, that matters are extremely serious, and there appears to be a deadlock. Not only is the supply and pressure deficient but the hydrant question is to be deplored." Even on the hydrant question, he points out, there is a controversy which is holding up action. In the Central District almost nothing has been done for 20 years. The type of hydrant mostly in use is out of date.

He says further: "Although not wishing to be considered an alarmist, the situation is certainly precarious and one of uneasiness, especially when there is no pressure on the mains, instances of which occur during the year."

He also repeats his remarks in regard to the shortage of motor pumping equipment.

Here is one significant paragraph: "It is perhaps necessary here to mention that we have buildings packed with merchandise, and one or two godowns that could be mentioned must have contents to the value of over five million taels. The loss of even one would immediately raise the insurance rates very considerably."

One of the godowns gutted in yesterday's fire is said to have contained merchandise to the value of million taels!

Who, we ask, in face of this huge loss with which the community is confronted, is responsible for the failure to heed the warnings of certain disaster issued by Shanghai's very efficient Fire Chief?

Who Is Gen. Weygand?

The Distinguished French Officer, Marshal Foch's Right Hand Man In Poland Looms Mysteriously In Recent Belgian Rumor As The Son Of Maximilian And Carlotta

BY EDOUARD TRAUS

A new mystery has been absorbing Belgium recently. Is it true that the latest military hero, General Weygand, the right-hand man of Marshal Foch and the accredited savior of Poland, is of royal blood?

During the war a rumor was circulated with a certain amount of persistence that the famous General was a son of the late Leopold II., and consequently the uncle of King Albert 1. Recently a French weekly, "Aux Ecoutes," gave a new consistency to these rumors by asserting that Gen. Weygand was the son of a monarch who died a few years ago, that he was born of a morganatic marriage, and that his education was directed by his father himself, who made him enter the Ecole de Saint-Cyr, where he was enrolled under a different name from that which he bears today.

It is asserted that on each of King Leopold's trips to Paris, which every one knows were very frequent, the amiable sovereign did not fail to go to visit that son who, were he not the most modest of men, could call almost all the monarchs of Europe "cousin," but who prefers instead the honor of having added a dazzling jewel to the military glory of his country.

A few days later a Belgian weekly, "L'Horizon," reported this rumor and said that this information was correct. It added that "the late King Leopold was very much interested in the education of his son, whose mother was of a good French bourgeois family whom he had met about 1870." At the time of the victory parade of July 21, 1919, the citizens of Brussels were very much surprised at not seeing the future victor of the battle of Warsaw in the Marshal's suite. It is rumored that he had been informed from high quarters that it was advisable that he should avoid meeting the nephew of Leopold II., the present King, in the Belgian capital.

The Gazette de Bruxelles proceeds to tear this hypothesis to pieces on the ground that King Leopold, who was legitimately married in 1853, could not enter into a morganatic union, as the Belgian civil law does not authorize bigamy, even if it is royal. Moreover, it is unlikely that Leopold should have had a son in 1867 by a woman whom he did not know until 1870.

But if this rumor is erroneous, the true account of Gen. Weygand's birth is remarkably similar. Deprived of one royal parent, he merely gains another. The result of an investigation undertaken by the Brussels newspaper, on which the responsibility for the story must rest, is worthy of a dime novel or a moving picture scenario.

Gen. Weygand, it seems, was born in Brussels on Jan. 27, 1867. The journal, however, was unable to consult the State registry, and was refused the birth certificate, although payment of required tax had been made. The mystery which shrouds this birth certificate and the special orders given to prevent it from being divulged, lead one to think that something strange and abnormal is being hidden. Other facts which were gathered indicate that Gen. Weygand was recorded in the State registry as born of an unknown father and mother. Some think that the name of the mother is recorded in the registry, and that seeing this name and being questioned by indiscreet reporters, an employee refused to give it to them, but this rumor has been discredited. They also say that an employee refused to give the Christian name of the child, under the pretext that it was a personal matter.

Whatever may be the cause, however, the child was acknowledged a few months after its birth by a man named Weygand, of French nationality, twenty-one years old and an accountant by profession. The act of acknowledgment was certainly passed by a notary public in a town in the south of France, probably Marseilles.

The doctor who assisted at the birth and had it registered was Dr. S——, court physician. As he refused to give the name of the mother in spite of the fact that he was required to do so by law, a legal investigation was started, but had no result. In order to lead inquirers even further astray the birthplace was declared to be a clinic in Belgium.

But what could this "tell-tale" Christian name of Gen. Weygand be, indeed?' Since the employee of the registry refused to give it up, the only thing left was to consult an almanac of the French Army at the Bibliotheque Royale.

This is what was found on page 511 of No. 1,021 of the Almanac of the French Army for the year 1898, edited in Paris by Berger-Levrault:

"Maxime Weygand, Captain of the 9th Dragoons."

Maxime? What was there indiscreet about this name? Here we enter into the most romantic hypothesis.

Maxime Weygand, born in Brussels on Jan. 27, 1867, could be no other than the legitimate son of the unfortunate Emperor of Mexico, Maximilian, and the Empress Carlotta!

We were curious enough to verify a few dates which put no obstacles in the way to this hypothesis.

The Empress Carlotta did indeed leave Mexico on July 8, 1866, and landed at Saint Nazaire on Aug. 8. The unfortunate Princess went to Paris to ask help of Napoleon III. for her husband, who was already in a very critical situation. When Napoleon refused her request she had a very painful and even violent scene with him, which historians have preserved for us.

From Paris she went to Rome, where she had an interview with the Pope. It was at this time, in September, 1866, that she suffered, on a public occasion, her first public attack of insanity. She returned to Belgium, and from this time on lived a very retired life. As has appeared, the child was born toward the end of January, 1867, not quite six months after her arrival in France from Mexico.

Note that the Empress belongs to a family all the members of which are perfectly sane; that trouble alone could have affected her mind; and that women are particularly exposed to such a catastrophe during the critical period of pregnancy. Finally, a very disturbing detail, an old photograph of the Empress Carlotta has been compared with one of Gen. Weygand which has recently appeared in the newspapers. There is a striking resemblance between these two; the expression in the eyes is strangely similar.

But why, you will exclaim, should they have concealed this perfectly legitimate and honorable birth?

A learned professor of history, being consulted on this subject, suggests that this surrender of the son of Maximilian may very well have been forced by Napoleon III., who wanted to bring the Mexican affair to a close at all costs. This affair was a source of grave anxiety to Europe. It attracted the attention of the whole world, and threatened to lead to war between the United States and France, at the very moment when France had to be on her guard against Prussia.

Maximilian had many supporters in Mexico who would not have failed to fix their hopes on his son. And after having left Maximilian to his fate, alone, without soldiers, and without money, it is not unlikely that they tried to stifle his dynasty and caused the disappearance of a son who would have kept alive the sequences of Mexican adventure.

Maximilian was not executed until June, 1867; though every one had known that he was doomed since the end of 1865. The Emperor Napoleon probably waited for his death before allowing Maximilian's son to be adopted by the accountant Weygand.

This supposition explains the interest which Leopold II. had for years manifested in the son of his unfortunate sister, and the legend that he was the Belgian King's own son, as referred to at the beginning of this article. Others also maintain that the origin of Gen. Weygand, if it were known by the French Government, would lead to his immediate recall from Poland.

What must we think of all this? It is hard enough to verify the facts. The Empress Carlotta, looked upon, as an insane person after certain public evidences of her unbalanced mind during the critical period of 1866-7, cannot be considered as a legal witness. Leopold II. and Dr. S. both are dead.

There still remains to be explained, as the Gazette observes, the reasons why the Belgian royal family and Dr. S. should have lent themselves to the propagation of such deceit.

What unexpected ray of light may clarify this mystery?

SPRINGTIME

Annette, please forgive this effusion,
Inscribed in a moment of zeal.
My ardour—no passing illusion—
I make no attempt to conceal.
The springtime inspires me with fancies,
And gives me the boldness to woo,
To make unexpected advances,
And dedicate verses to you.

Your fair face, Annette, is ensnaring;
Your speech is sweet song in my ear.
Olympus would bow to your hearing;
You kiss, oh divinely! But here,
My words I must bridle with caution,
Lest a foolish proposal I make
Till houses are every man's portion
Spring poets must put on the brake.

To Be First Queen Of Siam

She Will Be The One Wedded Wife Of The Modern, Oxford Educated King, Who Renounces The Solomon-Like Traditions Of His Ancestors

BY FREDERICK DEAN
(New York World)

The cabled announcement that the King of Siam is to break his vows of celibacy and marry his cousin, the talented Princess Wanvinal, shatters all thought of His Majesty's entering the monastery, as did his grandfather, Maha Mongkut, or of reviving the old established system of admitting to "the household" members of the various families of Bangkok's 400.

King Rama's father died leaving between seven and eight thousand "wives." When, as Crown Prince, young Vajiravudh returned from Europe this father presented him with one hundred and twenty of the beauties of the court, saying that he "might start light housekeeping with these and add to his household as he saw fit." But the youngster replied that he would have nothing to do with any such wholesale marriage; that he would marry one wife, and she would be the queen of his heart as well as Queen of his realm, and that until he met the one he would remain a bachelor.

At first the King took the answer as a joke, but, as after repeated urgings the same determined reply was made and he realised that his son had much of the firmness of the boy's grandfather, the great Mongkut, he was forced to cease his importunity. But he never became reconciled to the change and—so rumor had it—died of a broken heart. For polygamy is a state institution in Siam. A Siamese gentleman may have as many wives as he can support. The harems of the nobility count their occupants by the hundreds—the royal household numbers many thousand.

Old King Mongkut used to say that he liked to have a member of every prominent family of the state represented in his palace; that in no other way could he get into such close touch with the affairs of the different departments of his country!

For example, at one time during his reign trouble arose in one of the northern provinces. Try as he might he could not get at the root of the matter. In his perplexity he thought of wife No. 6754, a charming and shrewd little lady who lived in that neighborhood. He plied her with questions about the trouble. Fortunately she happened to know all about the affair and her quick answers gave His Majesty just the exact information he desired. A deputation was sent to the district, inquiries were followed by explanations and understandings, and, in the course of a few weeks, the entire matter was adjusted with such diplomatic tact that no further complication of like nature ever arose. Of course, the bright little informant was handsomely rewarded, and after that every other member of the happy family did her best to keep in touch with the affairs in her special province.

Mongkut's son, King Chulalongkorn, followed his father's example, at least in the number of his political helpers, but trusted more to his regular officials for the ferreting out of local difficulties. Still, he was insistent upon the continuance of the custom of the royal household, For twenty-five hundred years it had been the custom of the country, and it seemed little short of sacrilege to do away with it.

This newest development, the restriction to one wife, is in reality more of a blow to polygamy than the celibacy of the King. It shows that His Majesty has found The one, and is determined to prove to his people and to the world that he really means to abolish a custom that—to him—is beneath the dignity of so modern a monarch.

Bangkok is an ideal spot for a royal wedding. The city is called "Bangkok, the "Beautiful" and rightly so. It is the Paris and the Venice of the East combined in one. Siam is the richest country of its size in the world; Bangkok, with a population of nearly a million souls, is the political, commercial and social center of the state. On the streets may be seen representatives of half a hundred different nationalities. The palaces and public buildings are marvels of exquisite workmanship. Gardens rivalling those of ancient Babylon reach out in every direction, filled with flowers of gorgeous hues and exotic odors. The people are pleasure-loving folk, ready at a moment's notice to enjoy to the full a pageant or a play. The calendar is arranged to squeeze in a festa every seventh day from January to December and, as every notable occasion of this nature necessarily takes on the character of a public entertainment, every one in the kingdom is by now making preparation for the crowning event of the King's career.

King Rama VI. is forty years of age. He is a graduate of Christ College, Oxford; has written plays in French and theses in German; drilled as a private soldier at Sandhurst, and crossed swords with the daredevils at Heidelberg; has flirted with the belles of Holland and Italy, and is conversant with the politics of America and Spain; is a writter of virile verse, and a fencer to be feared; speaks English "like an Irish gentleman," and loves a good cigar; is a devoted Buddhist; has more jewels and a larger private bank account than any other sovereign of the Far East, and, having inherited the loving disposition of his father and his greater-grandfather, he has decided to lavish upon one woman what his forebears spread out thinly upon many.

His fiance is twenty-seven years of age, a daughter of his father's younger brother. Inheriting from her father rare mental attainments, she has been trained in European schools; is a linguist, a great reader and a lover of poety. She is, in fact, ideally fitted for the exalted position to which she is to be called. Her mother, a beauty of her time, has given her lavishly of her own charm of manner and personal attractiveness—blue-black eyes with silken lashes, exquisitely moulded hands and feet, and teeth of pearl. Regally will she wear the golden-embroidered stuffs which her loving lord will fling about her shoulders, and no less regally will she help her versatile King in his many methods of making his people prosperous and his reign triumphant.

May the great Buddhas so direct and guide!

Drive On To A High Future

BY DR. WM. A. McKEEVER
Professor in the University of Kansas and an Authority on Child Training

First of all, refuse to worry or suffer remorse over any past blunder. But at the same time give the whole series of personal events a keen and critical examination. Strike a balance sheet, writing the list of blunders on the debit side and the achievements on the credit. Foot up the two columns and determine the net result.

Have you gained or lost in respect to such matters as self-control, power of concentrated study or work, economy in the use of your time, organisation of your plans for the future, loftiness of the goal for your permanent career?

You may be surprised that I did not mention money and wages in the foregoing trial balance of your life. Well, that omission was intended. You may run water through the mill without grinding any grist. So with money. Its possession, or the lack of a considerable amount of it on the part of a youth, has little relation to the integrity of character or the future achievement. But the items I have listed above all have a testing quality.

Take the matter of self-control. Can you drive straight ahead as to that Can you now curb better than formerly any tendency to be lazy, shiftless, mean, selfish, lustful or irreverent? Can you go straight to your post of duty, and on time, whether it be work, leisure, sleep or worship?

Next, are you learning to be intensive—to work hard and fast without rushing, to use the strokes conservatively, to think in the midst of noise and confusion, to be unheedful alike of the blinding storm and the swaying masses around you, to throw your energy into some leisure-time development, to sleep calmly and restfully, to place yourself occasionally in the mood of prayer

Also, are the physical, the mental and the moral forces of your life pulling together in a steady team? You do not need to be a giant in any one of these four elements of character. Indeed, I am assuming that you may be very ordinary in respect to them. But if they are all held to a common level and contribute their respective parts to the even balancing of your character, you have gained control of a splendid working machinery for future success.

It has been my policy to contend all along that the mediocre man must be depended on to pull the world up to a high level if it ever goes up. The man of plain talents, but a plodder; the man with firm convictions based on a vigorous experience; the man of an acquired loftiness of vision for a permanent and masterful career—that is the sort of personality which I am urging you to carve for yourself, my boy.

Now, with these simple rules to guide you, forget and forgive the past and drive straight on for the glory of a better future.

After-Theatre Suppers

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH
An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management

What is so delightful as the little surprise supper when you come home on a Winter's evening from the theater or the motion picture house? With the prices of restaurant foods today, only the very prosperous can indulge in the after-theater suppers offered by the best restaurants.

What to have is the next consideration. Perhaps sandwiches and hot cocoa will settle the question very nicely. And it is well to have the sandwiches prepared and the cocoa made before leaving.

There are a number of appropriate fillings. A delicious filling is made of boneless sardines mashed to a paste and mixed with finely chopped, hard-cooked eggs A few grains of cayenne give just the right seasoning. Cream cheese, chopped olives and walnuts spread on thinly sliced brown bread make another inexpensive filling. Canned shrimp or crab lobster or tuna, finely chopped, seasoned and moistened with mayonnaise, makes a well-liked filling, but is a bit more expensive than those previously suggested.

Sandwiches keep fresh if wrapped in waxed paper and then placed in the refrigerator. In fact, sandwiches so stored might be made the day before. This is sometimes desirable when a large number are to be served.

Salads, too, are appropriate for serving late at night. Good salad can be made from first quality canned chicken when freshly cooked chicken is not available. Cut the chicken into inch cubes with a sharp knife. Add an equal quantity of sliced table celery, Set this away in the refrigerator. Clean the lettuce and place it in a covered tin can in the refrigerator. Chill the plates. When the time comes to serve, moisten the chicken and celery with mayonnaise and place on leaves of lettuce on the chilled plates.

Hot coffee is frequently served with cold salads. Make it, arranging to free it from the grounds before leaving home. It will take but a moment to reheat it when it comes time to serve.

At a supper in one of the large metropolitan hotels the other evening I tasted a salad that some hostess looking for something new and most palatable will want to serve. The salad was termed Salade Archduc. On a leaf of lettuce there was a parallel arrangement of strips of brilliant red pimento, soft, yellowtoned asparagus tips and cool green strips of skinned alligator near. This arrangement was repeated until the well-trimmed leaf of lettuce had been entirely covered. gowns. Serveral new colors were panoles in the story told by the at the inquest to reveal discre-

Japanese In Shantung

There is not the latest intention on the part of Japan, says the Sheng Pao (Peking), to restore Tsingtao to China. The Japanese Government has done everything to encourage its nationals to migrate to Shantung, which is bound to become its colony in course of time. In Tsinan alone there are 3,005 Japanese, whose number is continually increasing. In February there were 56 new arrivals. Great efforts have been made by Japanese to capture the yarn market. In 1919 4,800 bales were sold in Shantung, but in 1920 the number increased to 30,911 bales. The quantity of Chinese yarn has decreased proportionately; in 1919 it was 37,980, but in 1920 it was 17,883 bales. Most of the Japanese settlers in Shantung are not law-abiding, and they are given special protection by their consuls no matter how illegal may be their occupation. The smuggling of opium is one of their most flourishing businesses, and the smuggling of salt has been openly carried on in defiance of the Chinese authorities. The salt manufactured in Tsingtao is openly transported by the Kiaochow-Tsinan Railway to various Chinese districts, where Chinese are engaged to convey it into all interior districts for sale. The Japanese authorities have fixed a specially low rate for the transportation of illicit salt in their railway. Whenever these native salt-sellers are arrested by the Salt Preventive Police, the Japanese Consul will at once interfere demanding the immediate release of the criminals and their goods. The Chinese salt is sold at $6.90 per picul, but the Japanese salt at $4.30, a difference of $2.60. Already the revenue collected by the Chinese Salt Administration in Shantung has been seriously affected. Having failed to obtain redress locally, the Shantung Authorities have repeatedly telegraphed to the Central Government to devise means to stop the lawlessness.

Trade continues stagnant generally and despite the drop in exchange which has been continuing since we last wrote, there are as yet no signs of an improved demand from any quarter.

TO UNITED STATES VIA PACIFIC AND VIA PANAMA AND SUEZ

There is again no change to report on any of these berths and cargo is conspicuous by its absence.

COASTWISE

There is no change to report in this direction, the Northern Ports have not yet opened and trade is rather slack; there is a little cargo moving from the River by the regular liners but outside of that most trades are sluggish.
